

Romulus has moved fast since becoming city

The City of Romulus will be a year old in May of this year. During the eight months since the community's voters approved city status May 7, Romulus has made "tremendous progress" in residential and commercial development.

Government leaders of Western Wayne County's 33rd city, under the leadership of Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael and an aggressive seven-member City Council, can boast of accomplishments that have brought about improvements in community living and the initiation of plans for future growth and development.

Mayor Carmichael, in reviewing the highlights of 1970, reports that 1971 will bring more and greater improvements for residents and businessmen alike.

The administrative staff of Romulus is working on a master plan for improved lighting within the city, an urgently needed requirement.

Other programs lined up for this year include adoption of a civil service program, expansion of the community's recreation program, holding of grand opening ceremonies for the new municipal building and library in June and adoption of a new zoning ordinance and community master plan.

The city fathers also have programmed a reorganization of the city cemetery and a study of a dust alleviation program for the city.

One of the major items on the 1971 schedule is an ordinance program. In connection with it, a Code Enforcement Committee has been created with instructions to enforce present and future ordinances of the city.

Code enforcement procedures will include the taking of violators of city codes and ordinances to court upon failure to comply after reasonable time.

Mayor Carmichael and his administrative staff are studying the community's garbage and waste problem in addition to an interim drain program investigation.

Steps on some of these various goals and program are already under way.

During the past year, both the administrative and legislative branches of Romulus government have worked in a harmonious manner.

Last year's highlights included the adoption of an official city seal, the appointment of the director of the city's first Department of Public Works, the reconsideration of all present ordinances and amendments thereto, requirement that all city equipment and property display the City Emblem and settlement of the jurisdiction of city and county streets.

In this connection, some 80 miles of local roads are under the care and maintenance of the city. The appointment of Wade & Trim & Associates, engineers, as acting street administrator was also approved.

A major move on the part of the city last year was the signing of a law enforcement contract with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department for 24-hour police protection in the city to supplant the city's present 10-man police force.

This contract is now before the Wayne County Board of Commissioners for study and approval. The city's first budget, with an estimated revenue of $1,028,970, was also approved.

The City Council also approved upon recommendation of the mayor, a labor relations board who engaged the firm of Parkins, Rogers & Associates of Detroit to draft a master recreation plan.

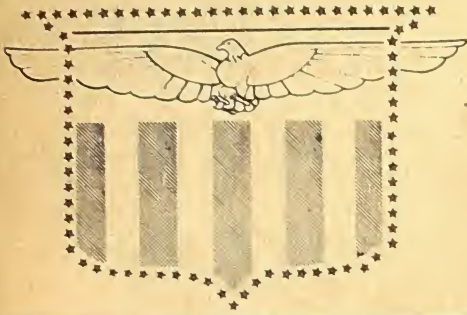

The firm has completed its preliminary report, which was presented to state officials in connection with the city's application for recreational funds under the Michigan Recreation and Parks Bond program.

To speed up operations of the city's financial department, council authorized the rental of a ledger computer.

A program to eliminate all vacant and unsafe structures in the city initiated by the City Council last year and will be a continuing program.

Property owners are to demolish such structures within 30 days after proper notification by the city and the Romulus Building Department.

Upon failure to do so, the city will undertake the work and levy demolishing cost against the property owner.

Zoning ordinance under final study

By HENRY CANTIN

A new master zoning ordinance for the City of Romulus has been completed after months of discussions, meetings and planning sessions.

The zoning ordinance and its accompanying zoning map are currently under final study and review by both the administrative and legislative branches of city government. This study is being made prior to submitting the zoning ordinance to City Council for its formal approval and adoption.

A complete review of the proposed zoning law, which will control the present and future development of the city, was held last night (Tuesday) by Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, members of City Council and department heads.

The city officials met with the Citizens Advisory Committee on Zoning.

members of the city planning commission and Parkins, Rogers & Associates of Detroit, city planning consultants.

During the formation of the new zoning ordinance, the city by emergency council action (resolution) operated under the old township zoning law which was based on the old Township Planning Act.

The Citizens Advisory Committee on Zoning, composed of representatives from Romulus' 11 voting precincts, was formed following a public hearing held before the city council Aug. 6.

The public hearing was called after the city's electorate defeated a new zoning ordinance adopted by the city council in a special referendum election held on Aug. 4, 1970.

The referendum was initiated by a citizens group that voice strong objections to multiple zoning classification for a land site at Middlebelt and Van Born Rds., an area near their homes.

Their campaign for the defeat of the city — adopted zoning ordinance was soon joined by others who objected to other phases of the ordinance.

The vote returns in the special referendum election was 1,254 against the ordinance to 633 voting approval.

Council President Jimmie Raspberry suggested the formation of the Citizens Advisory Committee as a direct means of getting first hand the views, ideas and recommendations of the residents of the committee on zoning regulations.

His colleagues on city council agreed and approved the appointment of the 26 member committee under the chairmanship of Robert Plank and assigned it to work with the city planning commission.

The committee has completed its work and has now presented the proposed zoning ordinance to city fathers for final review.

For the first time in the history of the community, a Master Zoning Ordinance recognizes the Detroit Metropolitan Airport headquartered in the City of Romulus.

The proposed zoning ordinance includes expansion programs announced by the airport.

A $25.5 million expansion program is planned for the airport this year which includes construction of a $5 million international terminal. This program currently under way is the first stage of a $100 million expansion program proposed for Metro Airport.

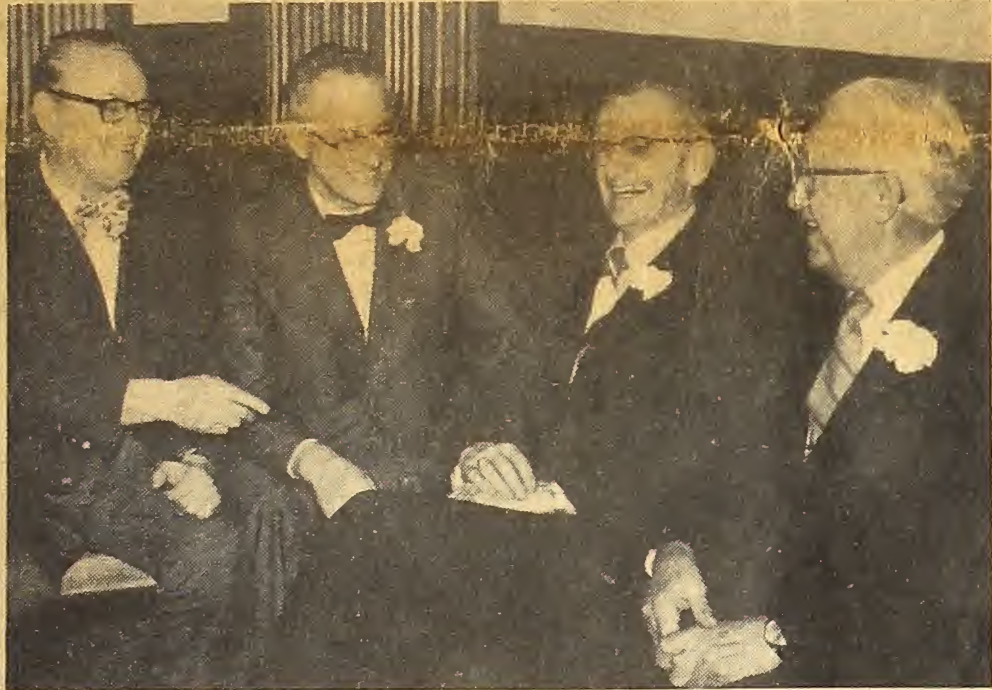

The new zoning ordinance also incorporates a land use plan of April, 1966 prepared by Parkins, Rogers & Associates.

banquet; Charles W. Hazen, industrial co-ordinator for the city of Romulus, and Mayor Hyle Carmichael of Romulus.

Junior Achievement week cited by mayor

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael has proclaimed next week as Junior Achievement Week in Romulus.

In issuing his proclamation in connection with the state-wide observance, Mayor Carmichael asked Romulus citizens to encourage and support our ambitious young businessmen and women and their dedicated counselors and urged adults to visit their J. A. Business Centers.

The proclamation on Junior Achievement Week follows: "Whereas, Through the vision and foresight of national business leaders, the Junior Achievement Movement was established fifty years ago to teach young adults, by practical experience, the value of the American free enterprise system, and

"Whereas, This movement has spread throughout the land and across the seas and has attained its highest membership in Southeastern Michigan where thousands of students from two hundred high schools meet at twenty-nine Junior Achievement Business Centers, and

"Whereas, Nearly one thousand representatives from area business and industry serve as volunteer advisers to guide young adults in the operation of their first corporate ventures, and

"Whereas, J. A. helps develop tomorrow's leaders by creating incentives, providing challenges and by instilling pride in good citizenship and responsibility.

"Therefore, As Mayor of the City of Romulus I proclaim Jan. 24-30, Junior Achievement Week and urge all our citizens to encourage and support our ambitious young businessmen and women and their dedicated counselors and to visit their J. A. Business Centers during this period."

Meeting cancelled for Huron Woods

A public hearing scheduled for tomorrow on the proposed incorporation of a portion of Huron Township into a new home rule city of Huron Woods has been cancelled.

The hearing, set for 7:30 p.m. at the Huron Township Hall, 37290 Huron River Dr., was called off by the Michigan Boundaries Commission because the proposed area doesn't qualify for city status.

State law requires that an area, to be incorporated, must contain at least 500 persons per square mile. That would mean the 8.5 square mile proposed area would require 4,250 residents to meet the population density requirement, said James S. Hyde, executive secretary of the commission.

Preliminary data from the special census ordered by the commission and conducted Oct. 7 shows the area's population to be 3,426.

To Huron audiences

Board duties outlined

Seven citizens, one student, members of the Huron Board of Education and the administration met in the Huron High School lecture hall to hear Earl Wilkinson, executive secretary of the Michigan Association of School Boards discuss school board policies.

Wilkinson detailed the duties and ethics of school board members, the responsibilities of members of the board as a whole on Jan. 11.

He stressed that school board members must think of children first, see that schools have adequate resources and finances and must represent the entire community.

He discussed the difficulties of serving on a Board of Education in today's changing world, the relationship and mutual trust that must exist between the chief executive officer, the superintendent and the board, and the advisability of not making hasty decisions by yielding to pressure groups within the community.

He outlined the fact that a Board of Education is a policy making body and must act and react as a board only. He stated that, "A board member can neither legally nor ethically act as an individual."

Wilkinson also said, "A board member has a responsibility to support the majority decision of the board. If you cannot agree, do not discuss the matter in the community."

St. Aloysius wants to keep its school

Whether St. Aloysius Catholic School in Romulus remains in operation next year awaits final approval by John Dardinal Dearden of a report and decision made by the parish council to remain open, Pastor Rev. John Kernosek announced Monday.

St. Aloysius School, an elementary grade facility with a student enrollment of 241

Carriers to call

The carrier boy who delivers this newspaper to your door will be calling to collect 50 cents for the month of January. This will include payment for the issue of Jan. 27. If your paper was started later in the month, he will collect a smaller amount.

This will be the first collection for many of our carriers, as the carrier-salesmen staff of the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman has more than tripled in size in the last month.

Your carrier will appreciate prompt payment. If you have any suggestions on how he can improve his service to you, he invites your suggestions.

Thank You,
The Circulation Department

students, is located at 37200 Neville St.

A statement issued by Rev. Kernosek said:

"The pastor Rev. John Kernosek and the parish council of St. Aloysius Church in Romulus are in full agreement to keep the parish school open. To insure this they have work hard to meet the criteria set by the Cardinal's Task Force. Our parish council has completed a three-year budget projection. We are optimistic for the Cardinal's approval."

The criteria recommended by the 32-member task force are to help pastors, parish councils and school principals to decide if their schools can remain open.

The criteria cited three categories finances, service to parish community and the apostolate of the Church for the parishes to consider.

In the category of finances, parish had to show how it could meet costs including an increase from 10 to 12 per cent a year for at least three-year period.

No borrowing will be permitted for financing schools.

The criteria places limits on using parish income or Sunday collection for the support of the school.

A ceiling of 40 per cent for grade school and 55 per cent for grade and high schools has been clamped on parish subsidies.

School to stay open?

The parish council at St. Stephen's Catholic Church has recommended that the New Boston parish school continue operations next year.

The required three-year budget projection and related matters have been completed and submitted to John Cardinal Dearden for his approval.

St. Stephen's parish school is located at 18858 Huron River Dr. It has a grade school enrollment of 254 students.

"We have tried to meet the guidelines set up by the Cardinal's Task Force and are optimistic about keeping the school open," Pastor Rev. Alexander J. Wyrta said.

Concern of parents
needed in schools

To the editor:

There are many things we have learned from the day we were born. Have you really stopped a minute and took a long look at the different things around you? Do you have any idea how many parts there are? Are these what we have taken for granted?

A child growing up to adulthood has all this and more to catch up with us as adults.

Now, what I'm getting at is this: What is self-expression? Doesn't this mean that you are expressing what you feel and how you feel?

And, self-actualization - doesn't this one mean what is actually you? Are these the things that a child learns from birth, either by your teachings as a parent or by teaching them to self-express or self-actualize and how much further do they intend to go? Is it because we as parents no longer care.

And sex-education. How about this one? Does it fall under many different headings? If so, Why? Due to many different customs, religions and traditions, don't people have their own way to handle this phase of life? Isn't this a part of our freedom?

Grandfathers and grandmothers, fathers and mothers attend your school board meetings and other school meetings that are open to the public whenever possible. Listen to the words very carefully. Hear the words and observe the words. Are you afraid to ask questions? Remember, these very children are your own flesh and blood. Your concern is their future. Their future will be your leadership tomorrow.

Have you ever taken a coffee break at 10:30 a.m. and listened to the Phil Donahue program on Channel 2 from Detroit, and heard what some of his guest speakers are talking about? Some of them will astound you, like what is happening in our schools all over the country. Some are more serious than others.

The three "R's," or the little red school house. What is wrong with them? Many people have reached their heights and goals with this as their foundation and they are living healthy normal lives.

I had one mother tell me that some of the teachers have Masters degrees. So I ask, in what course? Are they "Masters of Art", "Science", "Literature", "History" - "Mathematics", "psychology"?

And for those who don't have the training? Are they going to train on their own time and go to school at night or how? Or, are they going to receive their training in workshop on our time and expense? In the meantime, what about our children?

Senior citizen hits
taxation situation

To the editor:

It would seem to me that the general tax situation should be overhauled. The older you get and the fewer services you require, the more you have to pay for these services.

Senior Citizens, whose income has dropped appreciably, are carrying the burden of schools for which they no longer have an immediate need.

Let's review our needs and pay accordingly. Congressmen, go to work.

Building totals
$14.5 million

Total new building in the City of Romulus during 1970 amounted to an estimated construction cost of $14,500,381, Romulus Building Department Manager Joseph B. Gallagher announced Monday.

A decrease in building is shown in 1970 when compared with 1969 when $21,364,367 in building construction cost was reported.

The 1969 total includes a "big spurt" in townhouse construction in the city and several large industrial operations, Gallagher reported.

The number of building permits in 1970 totaled 749 of which $105,694.41 in permit fees was collected by the city. This compares with 679 permits and $109,423 in permit fees in 1969.

Gallagher has estimated building department revenues for the coming at $135,000 based on anticipated increases in all types of building next year.

NON-POLLUTION CLUB — Members of the Romulus Junior High School Non-Pollution Club met recently with Romulus Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael to enlist his aid in protecting the environment. Club members, with their various lists of questions on

for ordinances disliked

A suggestion that the Romulus City Council give more study to the immediate effect clause when approving the adoption of new ordinances has been presented to the council.

Robert Plank, member of the citizen's Advisory Committee on Zoning, made the suggestion. He stated that the state legislature allows 90 days before the effective date of new laws carrying penalties.

The city should allow some time before starting new ordinances, which would eliminate or reduce the number of complaints of residents who were not informed and allow time for educational programs.

Council President Jimmie Raspberry stated that most of the ordinances approved by the City Council are "updating ordinances" and that the council is trying to bring them under city designation within the provisions of the city charter.

He also stated that the council, in adopting the immediate effect clause in some of the ordinances, is following the legal decisions of the city attorney.

Raspberry added that the council appreciated the suggestion and would give it some study when considering future ordinances.

Romulus
Dem Club

The Democratic Club of Romulus will hold its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 28.

Items to be reviewed during the meeting are: planning of the various programs for the filling of vacant positions within the club; arrangements for the club sponsored Sweetheart Dance next month.

The meeting is scheduled to last approximately two hours.

Talent show viewed by capacity crowd

A talent show at the Romulus Senior High School, Saturday night, drew a standing room crowd and filled the newly built auditorium with crashing sounds.

The performance, titled "Soul Unlimited," was organized by the members of the sophomore class to honor the birth date of assassinated civil rights leader Martin Luther King.

A committee, composed of class president Collette Austin, Berl Chadwick, and Calvin Quiney, had with faculty advisor, Corzetti, Jones, assembled a program of more than a dozen acts and bands.

Performances were plagued by audio and lighting problems and delays for equipment changes between acts were long, but the audience - largely young and black - was patient.

Master of Ceremonies Terry Wood, WCHB morning disc jockey, while late in arriving, did a creditable job of keeping things moving, showing professional ease and coolness in coping with staging problems.

Romulus police alter reporting of accidents

Because of the increase and seriousness in accidents in the City of Romulus during the last 12 months, the Romulus Police Department is initiating an Accident Prevention Program, Police Chief Jacob J. Koch announced Monday.

Officers have been ordered to apprehend aggressively those drivers who commit the most hazardous violations.

"Vigorous enforcement of the traffic laws is mandatory if our accident incidents are to be reduced," Chief Koch said.

Inadequacy of order on traffic and accident procedures, Chief Koch ordered all officers to report all accidents on the new State of Michigan Official Traffic Accident Report and to report accidents involving motor vehicles that occurred on private property. These reports began last Friday.

The accident reports are to be turned in at the end of each shift unless additional information is required. Each report will be reviewed for accuracy, completeness and police action, Chief Koch reported.

After their investigation, officers will issue citations for any hazardous action by a motorist.

On all citations issued involving accident cases, officers will indicate a time for court appearance of the motorist within 10 days of the offense.

On all uniform traffic violations, the day and time appearance of the defendants for court hearings is also to be indicated on the citation.

Board duties outlined

This also should be true of the superintendent and his entire staff. Board members do not issue directions to the staff. The superintendent does. He has full administrative authority over the entire system. This is what he is hired for."

Wilkinson went further into this discussion by stating, "Board members have a responsibility to refer complaints to the proper administrative authorities. Board members should help to interpret the school needs to the community, as well as the objectives and decisions of the board."

Regarding specific policy

Wilkinson said, "The board alone is responsible for planning, developing, and formulating policy. Members should study the need of the district they serve and enlist the help of public and professional people in the community. The superintendent is responsible for carrying out the policy and also may delegate some of this responsibility to other administrators and staff personnel. He also evaluates the staff, curriculum, and how well the district is achieving the general goals set up by the Board of Education."

Feeling the definite need for policies in all systems the Michigan Association of School Boards is setting up a research center to assist local boards in formulating policies that will function well in their individual district.

Wilkinson feels that a Board of Education with a Administrative Management Team can best operate within a framework of well thought out policy and begin answering the ever present question, "Are we really meeting the needs of the children that we serve."

Conservationists to meet Thursday

Gearing up for a far-reaching soil study, the Wayne County Soil Conservation District will hold its first annual meeting tomorrow (Thursday) in Belleville.

Four persons have been nominated to the seats by a nominating committee. In addition, nominations may be made from the floor at the meeting. The present nominees are P.R. Biebesheimer, 39225 Glenwood Ave., Wayne, and David Raker, 17750 Wahrman, Romulus, who are the incumbents, plus two Belleville men, Hagbard (Bart) Berg of 48630 E. Michigan Ave. and Charles Renton of 14270 Martinsville Rd.

Two members will be elected to the district's five-seat board of directors at the meeting which is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the 4-H Fairgrounds, 10871 Quirk Rd. Belleville.

The main speaker will be state soil conservationist B. Dale Ball, who will discuss the importance of soil to the farmer as well as those living in the city.

"The soil conservation study, which was approved by the County Board of Commissioners earlier this month, will be of tremendous value to the citizens of Wayne County," said Gerald E. Warren, chairman of the County Planning Commission.

"The study will analyze the fertility, chemical composition, marketable resources, load bearing and drainage capacity of the soil, plus the crops that would grow best in various locations."

Results of the study, which will take three years, will be compiled in a report which will be available to the public in libraries and from governmental agencies.

Scientists from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Michigan State University will analyze soil samples from throughout Wayne County's 622 square miles.

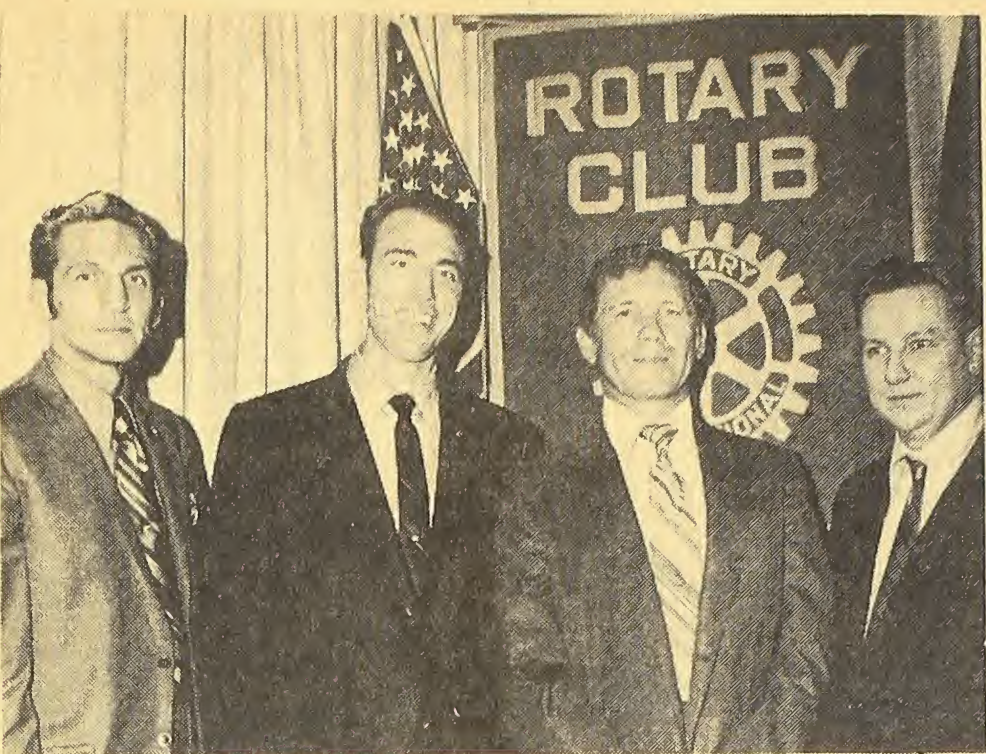

"It is easy to assume that this is an entirely urbanized county," Warren commented. "However, there are upwards of 1,000 farms in the county and there are some crops, such as sod and fresh vegetables, for which Wayne County is one of the state's biggest producers."

Warren said the soil conservation study "is just as important to the urban interests of the county as to its rural interests because its purpose is conserving and wisely using the soil we have." He added: "We can't get any more."

The Wayne County Soil Conservation District was organized in 1968. All 82 other Michigan counties have such districts.

Under the agreement with the Federal and State governments, the county will pay half the cost of the study, up to a maximum of $54,200. The county cost will be assessed against various county agencies that will use the study findings.

Thursday's district meeting is open to the public. However, only persons who control at least three acres of land are eligible to vote for members of the board of directors.

SPEAKERS COMMITTEE — The New Boston Rotary Club has organized a Speakers Bureau composed of club members. The bureau will provide speakers to any local civic, service organizations or citizens groups that are interested in the plans and programs of the New Boston Rotary Club or of Rotary International. Committee members are (from left) Bob Carey, Gene Rakotz, Steve Horvath and Verne Moore.

Residents asked help in code enforcement

Policy procedures and programs for a community-wide campaign for strict compliance to city codes and ordinances will be completed by Feb. 15, Romulus Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael reported Monday.

He has requested members of the City Council and others in the administrative family of the community to list code and ordinance violations coming to their attention and have them ready for the Code Enforcement Committee by Feb. 1.

City residents have been asked to contact city officials if they found code violations. Inspectors of the Romulus Building Departments are to be deputized and empowered to issue violation tickets calling for court appearance as soon as the program gets under way in February.

Owners of property, both residential and business, found in violation of city codes will be first issued warning tickets and ordered to correct the violation within a reasonable time.

Antcliff contract renewed

A new three-year employment contract for Byron K. Antcliff, 34, superintendent of Huron Public Schools, has been approved by the Board of Education.

The contract, approved by a 4-3 vote of the school board, was renewed at the superintendent's annual salary of $23,100 plus increments during the life of the contract.

School Board Member Charles Larabell initiated the motion calling for board approval of a new contract for the superintendent.

He was supported by Mrs. Jean Richert, Leo Kyko and Carl T. Rush, president of the school board also voted for the motion.

School Board Members Mrs. Mildred Bennett, Harry Harlsuff and Mrs. Erma Palminter, elected to the school board last June, voted against the contract.

The three new board members have been at odds with the superintendent in the operation of his office.

Antcliff, who resides in Ann Arbor, with his wife, Cathryn, and family, was appointed in March, 1968.

He served as superintendent on a part-time basis until May, 1968.

Police probe apparent murder-suicide

Two Huron Township brothers were fatally wounded by shotgun blasts and their father, who allegedly fired the weapon, reportedly committed suicide, according to the Flat Rock post of the State Police.

The shootings occurred in the family home, located at 22570 Waltz, early last Saturday morning, police reported.

The body of Gottlieb Kraker, 35, was found on the kitchen floor of his home by his brother-in-law of Southgate. He had been shot once in the head, reported State Policemen Wilford Haynes.

In the bedroom were Kraker's two small sons, Steven, 8, and Kevin, 7, killed police think by five blasts from a shotgun as they lay side-by-side in the same bed.

Police found a 12-gauge shotgun and six empty shells beside Kraker.

Kraker's brother-in-law told police he had gone to the Kraker home after his sister, Mrs. Kraker, had called him to check the home.

In our opinion

Chrysler settlement welcome sight for all

We're glad to see the United Auto Workers solve their differences with the major auto workers. After the months of bickering and headline stealing, we welcome the relief.

In the end, it is good to see that the UAW has taken so much concern with their nation, and this state, that they worked swiftly for a reasonable wage package.

Now we wonder, just how much of the bargaining is sincere, and how much was a sham.

We remember three years ago when the UAW wanted a share of the major corporations profits. In those good times, it was the duty of the corporations to pass on their earnings to the workers who made it possible.

Conversely, we remember the opening of bargaining last year, when UAW president Leonard Woodcock said that it was not the fault of the UAW that the major auto makers were not making a profit, and that the UAW was entitled to a raise, despite the hard times.

We remember the 10-week General Motors strike, when Michigan, and many of its cities who depend on GM taxes for survival, suffered irreparable damage through loss of revenue. Many thousands of city and state workers laid off by the strike will not be able to replace their jobs in these hard times with a wage even half as good as the lowest UAW member's wage.

Now the state suffers for the UAW's excesses.

Revenue sharing called 'phoney play on words'

By WILLIAM D. FORD, Congressman, 15th District

One of the many controversial problems that will be taken up by the new 92nd Congress is the matter of "revenue sharing"—a term touted by the administration as the answer to financial problems of states, counties, cities, townships and school boards.

The general theory is supposed to be that the federal government will return to local jurisdiction a certain percentage of income, with no strings attached.

It sounds fine in theory, but under close analysis, the whole concept turns out to be a phony play on words.

The basic question is: where will the money come from? Since the federal government is already operating at a deficit, there are only two possibilities—raise taxes or take the money from other programs.

The first possibility, higher taxes, I oppose without question. I opposed the 10 percent surtax, when it was first proposed by President Johnson, and when it was extended by President Nixon.

If we are going to raise money for "revenue sharing" by cutting back on other programs, the obvious question is: which ones? In my opinion, the federal government is already making inadequate allocations for some of the nation's most pressing needs—education, health, pollution and crime control—to name a few. I would certainly not go along with any cuts in present funding in these areas.

Civic speakers bureau praised

By HENRY CANTIN

Open door policy on the part of locally elected officials is one of the major assets of good community government.

The lack of unwillingness to maintain open door policies in the areas of government invariably leads to suspicion and mistrust on the part of some residents of the community and sections of the electorate.

We agree that there may be times when administrators of government, such as a township boards and city councils, must hold some part of their scheduled hearings in private. But such private sessions should be rare and held only when the utmost interest and welfare of the community is involved.

So-called "executive sessions" by elected boards and councils are permitted by state laws and other regulations.

But executive sessions can and should be conducted at proper times and not called during a regularly scheduled township board or council meeting.

People have complained that, while attending a meeting of elected officials, an executive session was called for the obvious purpose of carrying on discussion and the making of decisions on matters involving a community's welfare.

Meetings are then resumed, with decisions being announced and without a report on the voting or the officials' positions explained.

Open door policies have been announced by newly elected officials of our area communities. We think that this should also apply to the conduct of required meetings of those holding public offices.

In line with our recent comments that constructive criticism is a strong tool for bringing about better understanding between the citizens of a community and its elected officials, we would like to report that Romulus Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael invited such criticism at last week's City Council Session.

He has asked for citizen suggestions on how to improve present city services and for the development or improvement of community programs.

The mayor is setting up a speakers bureau consisting of City Council members and department heads for appearances, when available, before civic or service organizations, clubs and citizens groups.

Carmichael stated that a program, such as this planned speakers bureau, would do wonders in letting residents know what's going on in city government and "how we feel about things and what plans we have for their present and future welfare."

"We think we can create much interest and eliminate a lot of complaints," Mayor Carmichael said.

We agree and think that area communities should take head.

Mother knocks tales of 'way out' sex ed

To the editor:

I read with interest and deep concernment the recent letter from Mrs. Eileen Kiser regarding sex education in our schools.

As the daughter of a mother who was considered "enlightened" a generation ago, as a former student of education systems on both the East and West coasts not too long ago—they have different values on this subject—and now as a mother of three children—one in his teens, the outburst that some people feel they must make about this subject, never ceases to amaze me.

I have heard the various stories of outlandish things that occur in sex education classrooms. I have yet to see or hear of one personally. I took some of these courses myself in high school on the West Coast when back here in the East, high school biology classes were still teaching about birds and bees and mammals, and ending with, "The Human Being is a mammal."

Over a period of 13 years, I have been teaching my three children sex education, "the facts of life," or whatever you choose to name it. I prefer to think of it as "living." I cannot agree with Mrs. Kiser and the many like her or those taking the "cause" without pertinent facts, that our schools "are attempting to—deny to parents the right to be their children's authorities and guides —."

At what age do these "enlightened" parents intend to start teaching their children that which surrounds them from the crib? If the child hasn't learned some "Sex Education" by the time he/she has started kindergarten, then the parents have already been negligent.

The unfortunate part of this is that many parents are not against sex education in the schools. The groups that are, such as MOTOREDE, seem to make enough noise to make it appear they are a majority.

Of all the individual parents I have ever discussed this subject with, those not against it have already taught their children at home, whereas those condemning sex education in the schools so bitterly, have completely uninformed children.

Yes, ideally the parent should teach their children since we all have different values. However I ask, how many do?

A perfect example has brought to my attention several months ago when a young girl of approximately 12 years of age came to my door one evening, after dark with no adult around, to ask me to sign a petition against sex education in the schools. When I refused she seemed quite surprised. I knew at the time that she was the daughter of a very active member of MOTOREDE who apparently thought her daughter was safe on the streets at night alone, but not safe being taught sex education in the school.

This young lady and I got into a very interesting discussion when I asked her why she was against teaching sex education in the schools. She told me she had not yet taken the course, but "had heard from my girl friend what horrible things they teach."

When I asked her where she thought it should be taught, her reply was "In the churches."

Why not from her mother I wondered. To my question, she replied that she was not aware that some churches frown upon the teaching of any sex education. Her alternative then she felt would be in the home.

I then asked her, since she seemed like a fairly intelligent seventh grader, if her mother had taught her much about the facts of life, to which she replied that her mother hadn't taught her anything yet!

This is a bad state when parents have not taught things to a girl who biologically could be a mother, but do encourage her to go out on dark streets to work for a cause that she did not have the pertinent facts about. She left here at least thinking that perhaps there was more to it than she had been told.

Mrs. Kiser wants the simple traditional type, which if I remember correctly teaches girls about their body and its functions in all girl classes in approximately seventh grade. By that time, or even in fifth and sixth grade as she remembers it, many girls today are biologically women. Don't you think they should know a little more about what is coming with the changes of their bodies before it happens?

No, I don't think that the majority of parents, myself included, want a kindergarten taught "How to make babies" (what a mid-Victorian expression), but how many parents realize that many of our kindergartners already know thanks to their own babies at home, or family pets who have reproduced, more than mothers realize they know?

In my own case my oldest was 3 when his brother was born and his questions were answered honestly. He learned a lot and promptly forgot until a few years later, that which he was not yet ready to absorb. My children have watched the mating of our dogs and the subsequent birth of puppies. To them this is an awesome thing and questions about humans followed. To watch the miracle of birth, even with animals, I think has kept the beauty of birth and that which leads up to it, from becoming an evil thing in their minds.

To Mrs. Kiser, I must ask—what grades have you personally seen or heard that teach boys how to arouse young girls and manipulations? What sensitivity classes have you attended personally? I understand from hearsay that they range from some classes too far out for me, to discussions on the family as you mention.

The "too far out methods" must be controlled by electing responsible, educated, qualified people to our school boards and then trusting their judgment in the hiring of teachers. What is wrong, however, with family discussions in class?

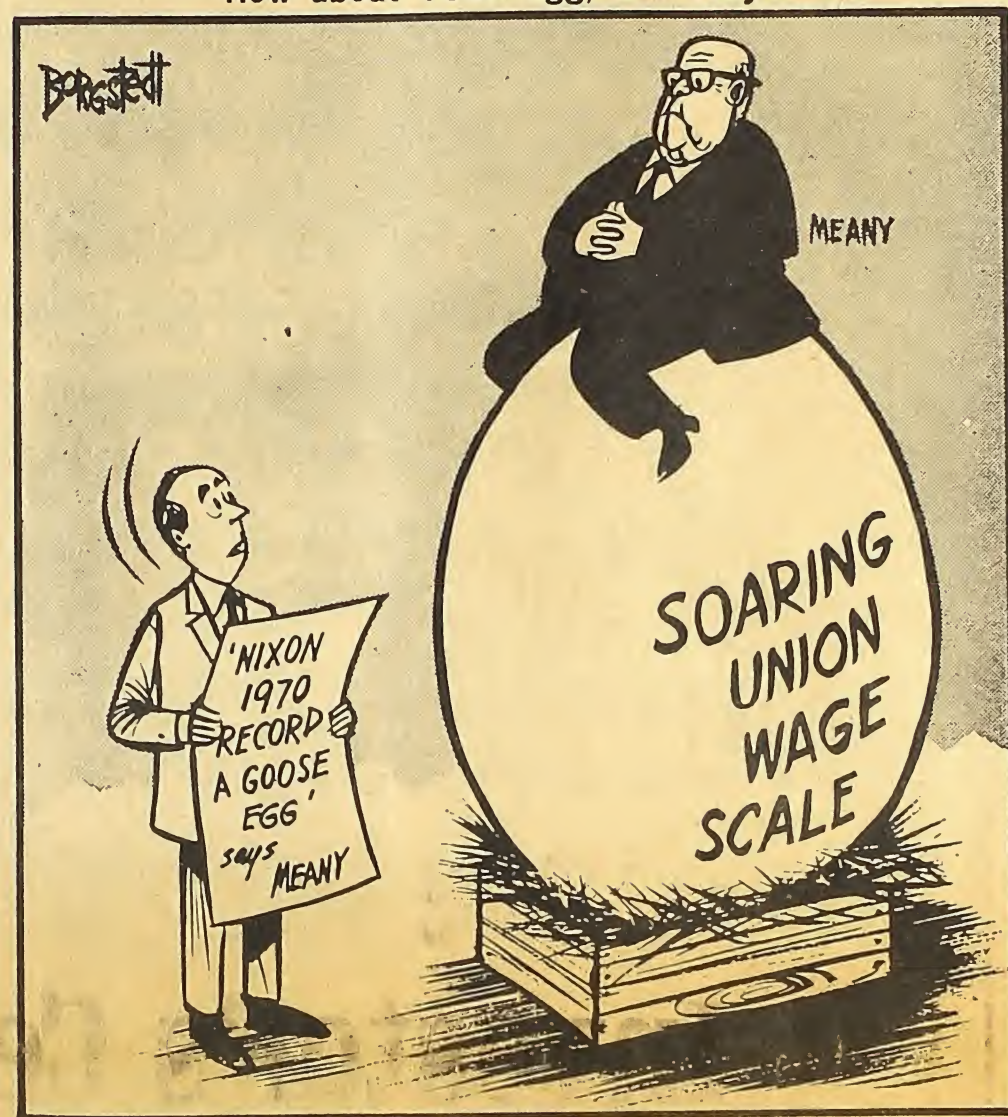

Are you aware that most children of any age will not talk completely openly with their parents, and it is good that there is someone that they feel that they can talk to and confide in. We all need that, no matter what age.

Yes, Mrs. Kiser, parents should band together, but not just to make noise to buck the school boards and education system. We must band together to support the programs that are good for our children and this we cannot do unless we are fully informed by first hand information.

I too am an old fashioned parent. I have been called this by many of my contemporaries, but surprisingly enough not by my children. I wonder how learning sex from the time I was three hurt me?

Battle for power looms in state Senate

By DON

HOENSHELL

Michigan's 19 to 19 Senate will come back Feb. 2 to fight the battle for power under a set of rules proposed by Republicans to keep control.

The rules changes, if adopted, will give Republicans the right to organize and insure their peaceful reign for four years.

They're tailor made.

The first change would allow an elected Senator to take his oath of office anywhere, erasing the requirement that he do it in the Senate chamber.

That refers to the illness of Senator Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor), who suffered a heart attack Dec. 19 and was brought to Lansing in an ambulance and to the chamber in a wheelchair.

To nail down control, break ties and, in such cases, would be the 20th Republican Senator, creating a numerical majority.

The old procedure required a three-fifths majority to suspend the rules. Republicans oppose this be reduced to a simple majority.

The change would tend to prevent floor fights over minor matters. In the past if a rule suspension was blocked, it was impossible to merely write a new rule, which takes a majority vote.

But this technique is itself blocked in another section, which would require that all rules changes be presented in the form of a resolution.

Republicans will try to add a new office of caucus chairman for each party. They split the jobs for majority leader and caucus chairman after the departure of former Senator Emil Lockwood (R-Elm Hall) to run unsuccessfully for secretary of state.

The big fight Feb. 3 will be over what Democratic leaders call "equity." Republicans want to keep their present 5-3 majority on most committees.

To make it all more palatable for Democrats, they promise that each Senator will have an administrative aide regardless of party and they propose creating an assistant president pro tempore, who will preside when both the lieutenant governor and president pro tempore are absent.

Democrats and Republicans both agreed to postpone the fight over leadership until Feb. 2 in the fear that the excitement of a floor fight at this state might adversely affect Zollar.

But that battle must be fought and it will come Feb. 2.

Speaking of schools

Psychologist duties defined

The Van Buren Public Schools presently has a school psychologist and diagnostician, Mrs. Ruth Hayes, who serves the entire school district, but puts her primary emphasis is on the elementary schools.

His responsibilities are varied, requiring much versatility, flexibility, and patience.

The first responsibility of the psychologist diagnostician is to determine—after observations, testing, interviews, etc.—if a child is mentally retarded or handicapped and if he qualifies for a Special Education Type A classroom for mentally retarded children.

If he does not, the diagnostician attempts, with the school principal and the classroom teacher, to plan an academic program that will benefit that particular child within its regular classroom setting.

The second major responsibility of the diagnostician is to discover and diagnose any child whose emotional problems interfere both in school and out. In such cases, contact with professional agencies and child guidance centers are made by the diagnostician and conferences with the parents are held to explain the needs and the procedures to them. Therapy with both the child and parents follows.

The diagnostician remains in contact with the agency to implement any suggestions for aiding the child within the school setting.

The third major responsibility of the diagnostician encompasses a vast number of the referrals. These are children who are problems in the classroom and can be handled by the schools, with flexible programming, other special services, etc. This includes the diagnosis and remediation of less severe behavior problems and emotional problems, learning problems, reading and perception problems, personal problems, and any child who cannot function happily and well most of the time in school.

Often these problems can be solved with a slight change or adjustment of modifying program for the

SUSAN BYARD
Gets ready for dance routine.

Susan Byard teaching

Susan Byard, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bauman, 9440 Ozga Rd., Romulus, is now on the teaching staff of the newly re-located, Ricardeau Dance Studio in Wyandotte, owned and operated by Enid Ricardeau.

From her early beginning, Sue won many talent contests throughout Michigan, performing a difficult and controlled table-acrobatic routine.

Mrs. Byard has had the opportunity to perform at the Michigan State Fair, the U.S.O. and events such as the Flower, Home Builders Shows and Teen Fair which were held at Cobo Hall.

Homeowners to discuss code

The Romulus Homeowners Association will hold its next monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 4 in the Romulus Junior High School.

In addition to handling regular association business, nominations will be accepted for three one-year term directors, president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Names will be placed on the ballots for elections to be held at the March meeting.

The Association will also discuss plans to assist any resident of Romulus in obtaining action against Ordinance and Code Violations through the newly created Code Enforcement Committee.

Saturday, Feb. 20, has been set aside for the association's second annual dance at the Romulus VFW Hall, on Lower Huron Dr. from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. With a theme of "Mardi Gras," everyone attending will be asked to wear masks.

Prizes for the most original and unique mask will be awarded. Tickets were on sale today. For information call 941-4569, 941-4270, or 728-2689.

Romulus PTA News

Spring fair set May 8

Plans for the spring fair were discussed at Merriman Elementary School's PTA meeting last Wednesday, reported Mrs. Carol Bales, group president.

Saturday, May 8, was the date selected for the event, with vice president Helen Yates and Mrs. Bales sharing organizational responsibilities.

Discussions were held concerning items to be purchased for the school from the PTA treasury. Kitchen items were thought to be important for a proposed hot lunch program, Mrs. Bales explained.

PTA elects new officers

Richard Campbell has been elected president of the Mt. Pleasant Elementary School PTA to finish the term of Mrs. Glenna Waddell, whose resignation was accepted with regrets.

A letter of recognition was directed to Mrs. Waddell commending her for her leadership. Her resignation had been due to pressing personal reasons.

William Johnston was elected vice president, an office that had remained vacant this school year, at the PTA's Jan. 12 meeting.

Mrs. Helen Gallien was the guest speaker. She explained that 73 per cent of school taxes were paid by local industry. She expressed the concern of the administration about multiple housing zoning.

Following the business meeting and election, a representative from the mayors office summarized problem areas of concern to the city administrators.

The meeting was attended by approximately 45 members, who divided themselves into a two-way tie for room count awards.

James Hirzel's fourth grade class and Mrs. Karen Price's third grade youngsters were both awarded ice cream treats on Friday for having 15 parents each at the meeting.

Future meetings have been tentatively planned to explore other areas of city government and commissions.

Romulus PTA sets potluck

Romulus Elementary School PTA will observe Founder's Day with a potluck supper on Tuesday, Feb. 9.

The dinner will be served in the school multi-purpose room beginning at 6 p.m.

Mrs. Marjory Butler, PTA president, made committee assignments for the celebration and called for reports concerning a proposed spring fair at that Jan. 12 meeting.

Members have been working on items for sale at the fair meeting regularly at the school to complete the project.

PTA Council to hear officer

Lt. Lew Huddleston, from the Metro Squad of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, will be the speaker when the Romulus Area PTA Council meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 26, at the Romulus Junior High School library.

The topic-drugs and their abuse in the Romulus-Wayne County area has been an issue of concern to local civic and PTA groups.

Mrs. Fran Petre, council president, invited teacher and community groups to send representatives to the meeting. Other matters to be discussed at the meeting concern parent-teacher conferences at the secondary school level. Plans for the annual installation banquet and project reports.

Birthday party slated

A dual birthday celebration will be enjoyed by the members of the Concerned Parents Association when they meet at 8 o'clock tonight (Wednesday) at the United Methodist Church, 11190 Olive St., Romulus.

Beginning a second year of "Get To Know Your Neighbor" activities, the group will share birthday honors with members Mrs. Mary Hearts.

Rest home patients treated by group

Patients at Woody's Rest Home located on Chase Rd., are the recipients of the attentions of the Romulus Community Workers group, said Mrs. Betty Hill, a member of the group that meets weekly under the sponsorship of the Family and Neighborhood Services Agency.

As a group project, Mrs. Hill reported, birthday cards are sent on appropriate days to all patients at the home.

During the Christmas Holidays, six residents were adopted by the group for special outings and gifts.

Three women patients were treated to a trip to a beauty college, for hairdos and manicures, while three males residents were given special gifts.

Still time to enroll in course

There is still time to enroll in the Gabriel Richards Leadership Course to be held at St. Stephen's Church, 18858 Huron River Dr., New Boston.

The 10-week course offers techniques on leadership, public speaking and self confidence. The course will start at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 26.

Secret Metro Squad to triple itself in size

By BOB PIENIAK
Staff Writer

Before the end of the month, 12 more dedicated men will be leading double lives in an attempt to curtail narcotics, the underworld revolution.

Formerly consisting of seven men, the new 19-man task force of law enforcement officers headed by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department is known as the Metro Squad.

The Metro Squad is not just concerned with drugs. The squad does undercover work in all areas of crime.

The squad, a national pilot program, is federally subsidized. It consists of members of the Sheriff's department, Detroit and Inkster police with men occasionally loaned from other Wayne County police agencies.

"The sooner everybody realizes we must coordinate our efforts, the sooner we'll be able to have an effective control of crime," said the former head of the Sheriff's Intelligence unit and now Deputy Inspector Richard Novak.

"There is a lack of manpower, an increase in crime and, with the new court ruling, it becomes more difficult to set up a case," Novak added.

The deputy inspector used the analogy of a hand to demonstrate the need for cooperation and coordination: "If I hit you with one finger, I won't have much of an impact. If I use all my fingers and hand and slap, it will sting but it won't knock you down. But, if I clench my fist and punch you in the jaw, you'll go down."

"It's the same thing in law enforcement. If we work one at a time, work together but not coordinated or if we work together and coordinate our efforts."

"It takes 4.8 men to trail one man. We just don't have enough men in all the different departments to do enough surveillance work," Novak said.

The deputy inspector demonstrated the value of police surveillance:

"Let's say there's a burglary and we have reason to believe it's Joe Bananas who just got out of jail."

"Well, you don't have enough information to take it to court so you lean on him, put a tail on him."

"It might be a week before Joe Bananas pulls another burglary. A week of watching and waiting. Then he pulls a B and E (breaking and entering)."

"Your man is there and calls over the radio to the department. The police come in sirens blaring. They catch Joe Bananas in the place."

"The newspapers give all the credit to the guys that busted the crook. Yet, the bust would have never taken place if it weren't for the undercover man."

"The undercover agents are the unseen heroes of police work," Novak said.

In the squad's first six months of operation there were six assassination attempts under the undercover agents.

Metro Squad agents, unknown even to most police officials, have been responsible for 423 arrests. More than 1,620 pounds of marijuana, 16 pounds of heroin, 10 pounds of hashish, 20 pounds of cocaine, 14,212 tablets of dangerous drugs and 135 weapons were confiscated by the undercover agents.

Forty big suppliers bringing in profits of more than $50,000 a year were among those arrested.

Why is there such an overwhelming rise in the amount of drug use?

"I have to be careful how I word this," explained the head of the Metro Squad, Lt. Frank R. Van Wielfen.

Choosing his words carefully he said, "This tremendous amount of use of drugs is tied to communism."

"It's given to our men overseas," Van Wielfen continued, "It dulls their senses and has caused the death of many."

"Drugs could be the ruin of this society," the lieutenant declared.

Van Wielfen agrees with many law enforcement officials when he says "busting" the narcotic user is not going to stop him.

"The user must be taken away from the environment and the source of the dope," Van Wielfen explained.

What about marijuana? The double agents arrested 205 marijuana users in their first six months.

"We didn't make the laws, we just enforce them," the head of Metro Squad said. "I think there should be some in-depth studies on the dangers of marijuana."

"Some pushers have doped marijuana with other drugs, hallucinogens and amphetamines, to produce a better high," Van Wielfen claims.

"This creates a hell of a health problem," he continued. "The users are a danger to themselves and to society."

Portion of road closed Students tour Rio by movie

A short section of Shook Rd. south of Bibbins St. will be closed to public traffic, as a result of action taken by the Romulus City Council.

The road section is located along side the Water Board Building, located at 36515 Bibbins St.

The road closing was suggested by Council President Jimmie Raspberry, who requested a formal resolution approving the closing.

Councilman Brooker R. Edwards moved for the adoption of the resolution. He was supported by Councilman James C. Stewart.

In other action, the City Council approved the installation of outside residential water meters on the recommendations of the Department of Public Works.

The seventh graders at Huron Junior High School took a movie tour of Rio de Janeiro last week.

Mrs. Shirley Camarena of New Boston, who recently returned from the Brazilian city, spent Jan. 12 showing films she and her husband had taken and relating details about the South American country, and its customs.

Her appearance at the school was prompted by the urgings of her nephew, Joel Sells, a member of the seventh grade.

For the students, it was much more than just another day of hearing about "quaint" people and "funny" customs — the typical travelogue approach

-- because of the Camarenas were exceptional observers.

The Camarenas, both U.S. citizens, have spent the last five years in Brazil where Mr. Camarena was on assignment with the U.S. Navy. Unlike many Americans visitors they made an effort from the beginning of their stay to live among the people.

They rented a second floor apartment above a Brazilian family, shopped at local markets and drove a Volkswagen, the most popular car in Brazil.

While her husband was occupied with his duties, Mrs. Camarena spent part of her days taking classes in Portuguese, the official language, and practicing what she had learned by speaking with the local people.

Toward the end of their stay, they were able to take a tour into the country, including a trip down the Parana River in which they were the only Americans among 32 persons and only Portuguese was spoken.

HAROLD J. KLEE

Classified manager named

Harold J. Klee, 27, has been named classified advertising manager for the Daily Eagle and its affiliated weeklies, the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman.

Klee has served as assistant classified manager at the Ypsilanti Press since June, 1969. He joined the Ypsilanti paper in 1967 after being employed as head teller at the National Bank of Ypsilanti.

The Eagle and the weeklies are owned by Panax Corp. of East Lansing which also publishes the Press.

Klee is expected to graduate in June from Cleary College in Ypsilanti with a bachelor of arts degree in business administration.

Klee is married and has a daughter. The family lives at 723 Washenaw Ave., Ypsilanti.

Panax sells weeklies

Panax Corporation, with headquarters in East Lansing, announced the sale of the Ingham County News to Richard W. Brown of Mason. The sale occurred on January 9, 1971.

The Ingham County News publishes three weekly editions which serve the areas of Mason, Holt and Meridian in Ingham County.

Brown has resigned his position as director of editorial services for Panax to assume operating control of the Ingham County News.

Panax purchased the Ingham County News from Brown and his brother, James, in July of 1968. James Brown, state representative from the 59th District, will remain as a director of Panax Corporation.

Fire van purchase approved

A bid, submitted by Bud Clawson Chevrolet of Dundee for the purchase of a new fire van for the Romulus Fire Department, has been approved by Romulus City Council.

The bid was $3,419 and was the only one received by the city.

Fire chief Joseph Crova, who requested the purchase, recommended that the bid be approved.

School gets PTO gifts

Members of the Sumpter Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) have presented the school with a sewing kit, a new Polaroid camera, and a mobile volley ball unit.

School Principal Thomas McLennan remarked, "This group is really getting its feet on the ground. The cooperation, initiative, hard work and dedication of these parents is tremendous. Their prime concern is the same as ours and well worth all the effort. It is, of course, the children."

Brownies visit Bozo

Twelve Brownies of Troop 634, three mothers and a dad visited the studios of CKLW in Windsor, Jan. 11 to see a live telecast of the "Bozo" show.

Ronald Dobbels assisted his wife, Jerri, who is troop leader, along with Mrs. Margaret Maitland and Mrs. Mary Bozelak in organizing the trip.

'The Crucible' a triumph for new director

Meadow Brook Theatre in association with the Detroit City Theatre Association presents "The Crucible," a drama in three acts by Arthur Miller, directed by artistic director Terence Kilburn, Frank F. Bollinger managing director, sets and lighting by Richard Davis, costumes by Veronica Gustaff, At Oakland University through Jan. 24 and at the Detroit Institute of Arts Theatre Jan. 27-31 with the following cast: Glynis Bell, Peter Bradon, Diane Bugas, Robert Englund, David Himes, Richmond F. Johnson, Philip Mallet, Angel Menzie, Elisabeth

By HOWARD ALLEN
Eagle Drama Critic

It may be treason for a newsman to suggest that the staged word can have more impact than the printed one, but there have been riots over early Ibsen presentation "The Deputy" had been picketed and "Birth of a Nation" must be kept under lock and key along with dynamite and other explosives. What then can be said of Arthur Miller's "The Crucible"?

Miller wrote his tour de force in the days when the McCarthy witch-hunters were riding high and Miller himself was under suspicion. In these days of mass polarization, with radical and reactionary alike damning much of the nation and refusing a hearing to those who think differently from them, it is as timely as ever.

Tragically, since the narrow-minded and strident are always with us, "The Crucible" is always with us.

The message is so obvious as to require no stating. Miller, with all the power of America's foremost playwright, recreates the Salem witch trails, where malice, jealousy and superstition condemned the innocent to death without adequate hearing.

As for the Meadow Brook Theatre production, now at Oakland and shortly to move to the Art Institute, director Terence Kilburn has a right to exhale loudly the breath he has been holding even since he succeeded John Fernald. Judging by his production, which is an honest triumph, the Meadow Brook Theatre is still in firm hands.

Meadow Brook has come back from the brink more than once. Just when you were about to scream at another one of Fernald's creaky comments he would trot out a "Long Day's Journey" and all was forgiven. Although Kilburn's season is too "commercial" this year to merit much national focus, it is likely that a New York booking of the current production would erase much of the onus of Fernald's Chekhov last year.

Kilburn directs with a bold, confident hand and his cast fully backs him up. Peter Brandon portrays the falsely doomed farmer, condemned because of the lying of a young tramp, with a massive and staggering dignity, matched by the firm depths of Elisabeth Orion as his beset wife.

Jacquie Guernsey directs 'Haunting'

It was less than a century ago that theatrical groups in this country and abroad came into full realization of their need for an artist whose skills they now consider practically indispensable - the director.

Jacquie Guernsey, a woman of wide and varied theatrical experience both on the stage and behind the curtains, has been selected to direct the next Wayne Civic Player's production, "The Haunting of Hill House," slated for the John Glenn High School Lecture Theater, Feb. 5-7.

A drama teacher at Lincoln Consolidated High School in Ypsilanti and a public speaking instructor for Wayne County Community College, Mrs. Guernsey is a resident of Wayne.

JACQUIE GUERNSEY

Several of the plays she has directed for the Wayne Civic Players are "Solid Gold Cadillac," "Importance of Being Ernest," "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," and their most recent production, "The Land of the Dragon."

Nine-year veteran of the Wayne Civic Players, Mrs.

Guernsey said, "I was very thrilled with the great turnout at try outs. It was a tough decision to choose the cast."

The Wayne Civic Players invite all area residents to spend several dramatic hours watching "The Haunting of Hill House" come alive on stage. For ticket information, contact Ann Bulton. 261-3183.

Western classic set for Museum

"Stagecoach" the 1939 western classic, with John Wayne in his first starring role, will be shown in the Henry Ford Museum Theater, Sunday, at 2 and 4 p.m., in the "Faces of the Western" series of Famous Early Movies.

This film is considered a classic for its 'adult' theme, which triggered the evolution of more dramatic westerns, with plots to appeal to the adult audience.

Filmed in cooperation with the Navajo-Apache Indian agencies and the U.S. Department of the Interior, the story is that of a stagecoach full of passengers going into Indian country. How each one reacts under stress is an interesting study of characters.

Excellent portrayals by co-stars Clair Trevor, Thomas Mitchell and John Carradine, supported by comic relief by Andy Devine with Louise Platt, Donald Meek and Tim Holt, make the film exciting and dramatic even by today's standards.

John Wayne was a stunt man and bit-part player when director John Ford selected him for the role of the likeable murderer on his way to trial who turns out to be a "good guy" when the going gets rough.

Admission to the Theater is free beyond the regular Museum admission of $2 for adults and $1 for children 6 through 14.

scene ...about town with cap patrick
...WHO'S CAP PATRICK? You'll recognize him by his famous String Necktie, sporting a Petoskey-Stone Clasp, in the shape of the State of Michigan! It's the same one seen on the Michigan Outdoors TV Show regularly. If you're the first to spot Cap Patrick at any of the places mentioned below, you'll be his Guest for Dinner or a Cocktail!
...PS-SS-ST! ANOTHER GOOD WAY to spot me, is to catch me shaking hands with my good friend, Commissioner Willard Koths who, with his lovely Wife, Rachel, and other members of the Family, owns and operates the elegant Colonial House Restaurant & Motel, at 10780 S. Telegraph Rd., in Taylor. This fine Family has a history right in Taylor, of over 100 years residence, and have been serving their Guests well for all those years! March 11 marks their 25th Anniversary at the Colonial House, where lovers of good food and good living continue to bring their Families and Friends. The GREAT German Cooking enjoys its righteous fame ... and the unbelievable prices make it impossible to pass up! Whether you're there at 6 a.m. for black bread Sandwiches 'n Coffee ... or at noon for the Continental Smorgasbord ... or in the evening for something as imaginative as Scampi (Spanish Shrimp) or Pot Le Creuset, glazed in wine-plum sauce and kept warm at your table ... you're liable to find me at the next table ... waiting to treat you! And you'll know the true meaning of the word "Treat!" ... once you've visited Koths Colonial House! And if you talk to the Commissioner about Catering ... I'll be YOUR Guest!!
...HEY TALKABOUT TREATS ... didjaever get to having so much fun you didn't wanna go home ... and wished you knew someplace to get something special? And you HAVETA stay out late to get it ... becuZ The Golden Coin, at 1870 S. Wayne Rd., in Westland, serves this Ham Sandwich so B-I-G you haveta hold it with two hands ... AFTER the Kitchen closes!! It's not that Chef Wesley doesn't make the greatest everything ... it's not that Scotty Wilson and Bob Clark don't mix 'em extra good ... it's just that everyone, at a certain time, starts watchin' the big Wall - Clock Papa Turco gave Frank 'n Lou ... and pretty soon, it gets to right n-o-w ... and there's a run on Ham Sandwiches ... that would make a guy think Margie was out in the kitchen! This 's why people started goin' to The Golden Coin to stay s-o-b-e-r. Oh, yes, these are changing times.
...GIMME YOUR LAUNDRY LIST! sed Eddie Charles, "and I'll set it to music!" S'true, this guy can make songs nightgales never heard of! We were at the Iron Mask that night, and my Gal handed him a Menu. "Set it to music!" she dared. Now Cook Frances Watkins has joined the Iron Mask Staff - fresh from the Sheraton-Caddy, and we knew it would make the man sing. Gil Main, of the Lions, already had his Prime Rib, au jus ... and we were splitting a skillet of Sauteed Mushrooms ... and somebody had left a little Pinot Chardonnay on our table ... and that feller in the corner was strummin' his guitar ... and we knew there was gonna be some singing sung! "Deelishus!" sang Eddie. "Deelishus!" hummed Gil. "And look who comes all the way out to 28949 Joy Rd. when he wants a REALLY GOOD MEAL!" Trilled IRON MASK Owners Bishop & Cione. The quartet turned to stare at Mike Andrews, who really does operate ... out at the Knights & Damsels, in Dearborn! But he didn't sing. Instead he asked, "Aintchu Cap Patrick?" Smart Aleck. Cost me a Filet Mignon. But got me a good story. "Tra-la-aa d's, d's."
...WHEN I'M IN DOUBT astagivin a guy a Kiss" asked Kathy, "what should I do?" "Why, Hon, just give him the benefit of the doubt!" I opined. It's almost like I'm in doubt as to whether I'll go out sometimes ... but then I think of GHERARDI'S, at 3747 S. Telegraph, in Dearborn, and all my doubts vanish! Of course, Gherardi's seems like home to everyone who Dines with them. When Peter or Mary greet you at the door ... when a little Waitress comes out to personally put a bow on your Bib for you ... when you know that all the Soups, Sauces, Pasta, Pastries and Breads are personally prepared for you by the Gherardi Family ... when Y-O-U, The Guest, come first, there isn't room for doubt. And there almost isn't room for all the Goodies! When you plan to Dine with the Gherardi Family ... plan a long, leisurely meal. And if you and I are there on the same night, Mother and Dad ... be the first to say hello. At Gherardi's, I'll buy you BOTH a Cocktail!
...IZZIT TRUE THAT IT TAKES TWO PINTS ... to make one cavort?? And do I sound like a fella who's had a couple of pints? Not really. It's just that there's even more to this Colyum than meets the eye!! F'rinstance: If your Birthday falls inside any given week (between one Sunday and the following Saturday), tell Jack Valian at the CHICAGO ROAD HOUSE! Bring you Driver's License, to show you're over 21, and your entire Dinner will cost you ... TEN CENTS! 10¢ is suchalittlebit ... I hadda spell it out. S'true! TEN CENTS, on Monday or Tuesday of the week in which your Birthday falls. And when I say Chicago Road House, I'm saying things like Hearts of Palm ... Oysters ... Dover Sole (direct from Holland!) ... Rib Eye of Beef, Entrecote (Parisian Style) ... Stroganoff ... Tenderloin Tips. HEY! Lookout for that crowd rushing down to Michigan Ave., just West of Southfield! Turns out it's everybody's B-Day. Let's cavort!
...Connie Graham and The Pleez are here from Vegas to sock it to ya, Baby ... and the people start lining up after 8 P.M. at Ralphs Lounge, 24521 Ford Rd., to feast - their eyes-and-ears-while-they-feast! They delight in being served by the pretty Bunnies ... they delight in being Entertained by the beautiful and talented Connie ... and they lividup on Surf 'n Turf, or Lobster Tails, or even Salad and a Sandwich. And do they offer a small Libation? Lissen, even a Shrimp can get into a Cocktail at RALPH'S LOUNGE ... so why not you 'n me? Let's do it!! For all you know ... I'm waitin' there right now! (I usually am, too. And if you say "Are you Cap Patrick?", I'll say, "Well, do I look like Connie Graham?" And while I'm talkin' ... I'll be paying. C'MON!!
...A-N-D, IF YOU LIKE "HOT" STUFF ... you'll LOVE PICO'S TACOS "California Style" Mexican Food! Three Tacos are so easy to buy on Monday, Tuesday, and 1-o-n-i-g-h-t, Wednesday ... and so-o-o good to eat, that you'll eat 'em up on your way round to the back of the line ... to get three more! Oh, Sil! There's a good week! Senor Taco lights his torch outside 8875 Telegraph (at Joy Rd.), in Dearborn Heights, to make the place easy to find. And if you follow your nose ... and if you follow the crowds ... and if you really know fresh beef and great taste when you find it ... you'll carry a torch for Pico's Tacos, too! Remember that Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are bargain nights ... and that every day and night is GREAT for the really different treat! And, if you see me there ...
...ARREST ME! I insist! And take me with you to Mr. Mike's ... where all of Westland is held captive by a Combination of Capone-era decor, complete with Tiffany Lamps and a 1910 Player Piano ... GOOD Food served by Father, Mike Capeneka since '46 ... and still being offered by Son Jimmy Capeneka every day in the week. Thursday, Friday, Saturday & Sunday there's live Music ... Monday is Political Night ... every day is Family Day ... there's tikkor on Sundays ... and this's one of the most "arresting" spots this old Writer has ever been held in. (There go the rumors again, Margie!) The clientele at Mr. Mike's, which is at 35323 Ford Rd., corner of Wayne Rd., reads like a Western- Wayne-Country-Who's-Who. The reasons you'll understand for yourself, once you've visited! Even the Big Wheel is on the menu!! How much more canna Guy do to please ya??
...PARTY GOERS are Party Givers, and Column Readers hereabouts, know how to give a swingin' party! That's why so many of 'em choose LeRight's, at 626 S. Wayne Rd. They stop at the Restaurant, from 6 a.m. to 10:30 in the evening ... but they stop at NOTHING ... short of LeRights ... when it comes to giving a really GREAT party! The new Dining Room seats more than 160 at parties that feature a Smorgasbord of SIX Entrees (Meat Balls, Stuffed Cabbage, Ham, Broasted Chicken, Kielbasa and LeRights famous BBQ'd Ribs!) ... Au Grautin Potatoes ... two Vegetables ... three Salads ... TEN Relishes ... two Jellos ... THREE Desserts ... Home-made Rolls, Coffee and Beverages. (Beverages, that is) Representative Tom Brown threw a Ball there ... the Kiwanis come together at LeRights every Monday ... the local Chamber of Commerce sang the praises of Host Jim LeRight after a recent Luncheon ... and folks who were there liked his gourmet treats so well, they've asked Jim to cater their upcoming St. Richards Millionaires Party for 1,000, at the Wayne-Ford Civic League. Wazzit one-hundred-million Frenchmen who couldn't be wrong? Or were they LeRights Diners? Call Jim if you're thinking party ... or come over and see the man. You might just meet a guy who'll pay for your meal if you're the first to recognize his String Tie!

VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOL MINUTES

REGULAR MEETING

November 9, 1970

The Regular Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, November 9, 1970 at 8:00 p.m.

Members present: Mrs. Doris Roe, Miss Barbara Rogalle, Dr. Richard Muse, Mr. Chauncey Schweigert, Mr. Charles Bole, and Mr. Robert Archer. Absent: Mr. James Sayre. Superintendent Kaulitz was also present. The meeting was called to order at 8:05 p.m. by President Bole.

The minutes of the regular meeting of October 12, 1970 were approved as printed.

The bills for the month of October were reviewed. Motion by Archer, supported by Schweigert, that the bills be paid as presented. Motion carried.

Mr. Manley Baldwin, representing the Belleville Kiwanis Club, presented to the Board the need for a motion picture projector for the high school auditorium. He indicated that at the present time the Kiwanis Club was renting a projector for use in the auditorium and that they would be willing to continue paying the same rental for use of any motion picture projector that the Board might purchase for the auditorium. Motion by Rogalle, supported by Muse, that a motion picture projector for the auditorium be purchased through the normal channels, with appropriate bids. Motion carried.

Communications were read from Mrs. Cora Woodruff regarding report card usage at the Edgemont School, and President Bole appointed Board member Mrs. Doris Roe to sit on the committee previously appointed to evaluate and investigate report card usage. Further communication was read from Mr. Eugene Strobel, Director of Community Relations, Wayne County Community College, relative to their millage election loss.

Superintendent Kaulitz discussed the revised general fund budget for the 1970-71 school year and distributed the appropriate materials to the Board members.

The Board discussed the problem of providing a drivers' room for the bus drivers, as provided under their current union contract. A report and recommendations by Mr. Von Destinon was read to the Board. Motion by Schweigert, supported by Archer, to purchase a used portable classroom from the McFadden Corporation, for the sum of $6400, plus transportation and installation charges. Purchase to be subject to the examination by Mr. Cook and Superintendent Kaulitz to determine that the classroom is in good condition, including utilities. Motion carried.

The first report of the Research Committee on School Buildings and Facilities was read and discussed.

Questions and comments were directed to the Board from various persons present at the Board meeting.

Motion by Roe, supported by Muse, to adjourn. Motion carried.

Robert K. Archer, Secretary

SPECIAL MEETING November 16, 1970

A Special Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, November 16, 1970 at 8:00 p.m.

Members present: Miss Barbara Rogalle, Mrs. Doris Roe, Mr. Chauncey Schweigert, Mr. Charles Bole, Dr. Richard Muse, and Mr. Robert Archer. Absent: Mr. James Sayre. Also present were Superintendent Kaulitz, Business Manager Von Destinon, and Curriculum Director Kohr.

The meeting was called to order at 8:05 p.m. by President Bole.

Superintendent Kaulitz reported on an up-coming meeting of the Michigan Association of School Boards. Communication was read from the Haggerty School P.T.O., and contents noted.

Mr. Wendell Smith and Mr. Lyndon Welch, of Eberle M. Smith Associates, Inc., were present to discuss with the Board the cost for the renovation of the Vocational Building. A review of the various bids was presented, along with the explanation of the alternate bids. Mr. Smith indicated that he had followed the Board's direction and had negotiated certain revisions in order to get a revised bid within the budget as set previously by the School Board. The plans were reviewed and various recommendations received from the architects.

Motion by Schweigert, supported by Archer, and unanimously passed that the contracts covering the renovation of the Industrial Building for vocational school purposes be awarded on the basis of general work to Bourdel Construction, with a base bid of $37,199.00; mechanical work, exclusive of air handling systems work, to Norman L. Boelter Company, for $67,400.00; the air handling systems work to the Partlan-Labadie Sheet Metal Co., for $24,225.00; the electrical work to the Hubbs Electric Company, for $31,931.00; in addition, the architects to make inquiry and secure the best possible price for meeting those requirements as asked by the fire department, being specifically an overhead sprinkler in the spray booth, as well as a "one-half hour" wall and an extension of the drain line to the rear of the building and the water tap and meter installation. 'All of the above named firms shall submit the names of subcontractors, suppliers, and manufacturers appropriate to the work of such company and receive the architect's and owner's approval of same. All of the above successful bidders shall meet the general conditions of the specifications.

Motion by Muse, supported by Roe, to adjourn. Motion carried.

Robert K. Archer, Secretary

SPECIAL MEETING November 30, 1970

A Special Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, November 30, 1970 at 8:00 p.m.

Members present: Mrs. Barbara Rogalle Miller, Mr. Chauncey Schweigert, Mr. Charles Bole, Dr. Richard Muse, Mr. James Sayre, Mr. Robert Archer, and Mrs. Doris Roe. Absent: None. Also present were Superintendent Kaulitz, Curriculum Director Kohr, and Business Manager Von Destinon.

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. by President Bole.

Director Schweigert reported on the progress in obtaining a hoist and drain for the vocational building. Superintendent Kaulitz reported on the Citizen's Study Committee and after a discussion there was a motion by Miller, supported by Schweigert, that the Citizen's Study Committee, as well as all of the sub-committees thereof, prepare and present their final recommendations and reports to the Board of Education no later than April 1, 1971. Motion carried.

Motion by Roe, supported by Archer, that the Board of Education recognize the Belleville High School Ski Club, and provide transportation for them under the policies governing the Ski Club activities and in conformity with transportation provided for other school activities. Motion carried.

President Bole appointed a committee to study the problem of student unrest, vandalism, and resistance to authority, with said committee to report in January, 1971. The committee consists of: Board member Sayre (Chairman), Board member Miller, Ray Kohr, and all high school and junior high school principals and assistant principals.

Superintendent Kaulitz read a communication from the Wayne County Intermediate School District relative to the mentally handicapped program. Motion by Archer, supported by Miller, that the Wayne County Intermediate School District be authorized to operate a program for the trainable mentally handicapped and have the powers granted to it by Sections 780 b to 780 j of Act No. 205, Public Acts of 1970. Motion carried.

Mr. Von Destinon reported on the disposal of three school buses which are now nonoperative. He was advised by President Bole to sell the same under the sealed bid method previously used.

A report by Superintendent Kaulitz on the Wayne County Intermediate School District tax rates by school districts as well as the average operational and debt retirement tax rates.

Motion by Muse, supported by Roe, to adjourn. Motion carried.

Robert K. Archer, Secretary

REGULAR MEETING December 14, 1970

The Regular Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, December 14, 1970 at 8:00 p.m.

Members present: Mrs. Doris Roe, Dr. Richard Muse, Mr. Robert Archer, Mr. Chauncey Schweigert, Mr. Charles Bole, and Mr. James Sayre. Absent: Mrs. Barbara Miller. Also present were Superintendent Kaulitz, Curriculum Director Kohr, Elementary Supervisor Gray, and Building and Grounds Supervisor Edwin Peck.

The minutes of the regular meeting of November 9, 1970 and special meetings of November 17 and November 30, 1970 were reviewed and approved as printed.

The bills for the month of November were reviewed. Motion by Muse, supported by Roe, that the bills be paid as presented. Motion carried.

A resolution to borrow $250,000, against state aid for the general fund was discussed. Motion by Archer, supported by Sayre, to approve resolution. Motion carried.

The death benefit to be paid to Carl Simmons' beneficiary was discussed. It was noted that there is a scale in the teachers agreement concerning this policy but since the administrators do not have a contract there is nothing definite concerning death benefits for them. Motion by Schweigert, supported by Sayre, to pay beneficiary 10 per cent of contractual salary. Motion carried. President Bole also appraised Carl Simmons' dedicated work with the schools for the past 37½ years.

Mr. Peck was present and discussed a plan for maintaining the school grounds with a crew of our own men and discontinue hiring this work done. Even though this would cost about $5,000, to purchase the necessary equipment it would save the school money in the long run. After a thorough discussion, motion by Archer, supported by Roe, to adopt plan with a two man crew as indicated and allocation of $5,000, for purchase of equipment. Motion carried.

Mr. Peck also discussed the need for trash pickup at the schools. He distributed material on bids received for this purpose. Bids were received in two forms: 1) non-burnable material only, and 2) both burnable and non-burnable material. After considerable discussion, motion by Schweigert, supported by Muse, to award a three year contract to Arthur Nelson, 12122 Townsend Road, Milan for total trash pick up (burnable and non-burnable items) for the sum of $15,912. It should be stated that safety precautions should be taken with the dumpsters so youngsters cannot climb into them. Motion carried.

The budget request for Debate and Forensics was discussed. It was decided that the request be tabled until the debate coach can come before the Board for further explanation of request.

Mr. Peck discussed with the Board the desire to install an automatic nighttime switch in the Administration Building to lower the temperature about 10 degrees at night and on weekends. This would save wear and tear on present equipment which now runs constantly day and night. The cost would be $400, installed. Request was tabled until further study could be made with the architects as to why switch wasn't installed as regular equipment when building was constructed.

Motion by Muse, supported by Sayre, to adjourn. Motion carried. Meeting adjourned at 9:17 p.m.

Robert K. Archer, Secretary

Cutter seeks to extend lake season

For a gal 27 years old she isn't in such bad shape. In fact her beam is no broader than it was ten years ago. She does need a little paint now and then to get more attention from the public.

Thousands of sailors have loved her over the years and she is the queen of the Great Lakes.

The lady is the ice breaker Mackinaw. More formally, the United States Guard Cutter Mackinaw.

Authorized for construction ten days after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor she was launched March 4, 1944 in Toledo, Ohio.

Since that time she has become the best known ship on the Great Lakes and, after serving the winter months breaking open shipping lanes, she turns to summertime pursuits. These include distress work, law enforcement, patrol duty and training duty for cadets from the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Connecticut.

Recently the Mackinaw engaged in the search for the B-52 bomber downed off the coast of Lake Michigan near Charlevoix.

During the break-up of Great Lakes ice last spring a reporter was given a first-hand look at how the ice breaker operates. Captain of the Mackinaw at the time was 48 year old O.F. Unsinn who pointed out for the record that the Mackinaw's beam is 75 feet. Her length is 290 feet and she carries a crew of 41 and five officers.

Captain Unsinn and Executive Officer Larry Otto, 42, are both U.S. Coast Guard Academy graduates. Captain Unsinn has recently been transferred to Washington, D.C. where he serves the Commandant as Chief, Planning and Evaluation Staff.

This winter she is engaged in the first attempt to extend the navigation season to a year 'round basis. The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce has a task force of Michigan businessmen who have made as their goal a full twelve months shipping on the Great Lakes by 1976.

Prior to the Mackinaw's arrival on the lakes the navigation season was closed to shipping due to ice on the average of four and a half months a year.

With her special design and ice breaking techniques she has reduced the closed season to an average of about three months a year.

But this year the Mackinaw is not alone in aiding those ships still sailing on the lakes and which expect to be there through Feb. 15. This will be the longest period shipping has been on the lakes in history.

Joining the Mackinaw will be a U.S. Department of Commerce weather satellite which will be sending back data from its permanent location over the U.S. in outer space. The U.S. Maritime Service, U.S. Corps of Engineers and the ships of private business will also be joining hands in the extended navigation efforts on the Great Lakes.

So, the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mackinaw, the queen of the Great Lakes and sweetheart of thousands of sailors, is going to be keeping company with a lot more suitors. And the intentions of the suitors will be marriage—marriage of the techniques of ice breaking with the new scientific instruments being developed by business and government.

And the offspring of this marriage will be a full 12-month shipping season for Michigan and Great Lakes region business which can mean increased productivity, payrolls and prosperity.

a century of dependability

The world we live in moves at a rapid pace. New products appear, and disappear, by the hundreds on a daily basis. New fashions, philosophies, ideas, are gobbled up, and spit out, before digestion can occur. Fads and fancies sweep the nation and some are exhausted in weeks. We have new politics, new economics, new ways of doing things.

And, in this frighteningly furious time, you and I search for roots. We look for credibility . . . for stability . . . for orderly progress . . . for communication . . . for answers to our problems . . . and for agreement. We want things built to last. We want quality. We want service. We want to deal with institutions that have stood the test of time. Wyandotte Savings Bank celebrates its hundredth anniversary this year. A century of dependability. Why?

Because, while fads and fancies shifted . . . while opinions changed . . . while events began accelerating . . . Wyandotte Savings Bank adhered to the principle of dependability. People knew we always were there when needed . . . and, more importantly, we met our commitments. In return, they favored us with their business, and brought their friends and associates with them. And, over the years, we have grown to know and to respect each other. We communicated. We worked out our problems together on an equitable basis.

Now, the community is larger . . . the population is larger and Wyandotte Savings Bank is larger. All because we could depend on each other.

So, in beginning our hundredth year, let me sincerely thank all of you for allowing us to be your banker . . . and invite you to join in the activities we have planned throughout the year to demonstrate our appreciation of your patronage.

Sincerely,

William T. Orr
President

A lovelier you

Some timely tips for 'snow birds'

By MARY SUE MILLER

The male contingent finds the snowmobile a fun sport. If you are not acquainted with it, you might angle an introduction. That's where the action is — some of it anyway.

To enjoy snowmobiling you need a warm, windproof ski suit or heavy slacks and jacket, thermal underwear, a woolly sweater, warm socks, lined boots and a parka. Be sure to wear a snug head-covering. A knit helmet is fine. Above all keep your hands toasty. Furred or wool-lined leather gloves have warmth built in. Needless to say, it gets mighty blustery skimming at high speed over ice and snow.

Never fail to protect your eyes from glare, sprays of snow and low-branched foliage. Ski goggles are standard equipment. Also satisfactory are sunglasses with light gray, unbreakable lenses.

Lastly but not leastly, guard your complexion. Sunburn, windburn and chap can result from even a short spin. The surest protection is much the same kind as skiers use: a film of moisture cream topped by high-altitude sun cream or lotion. The latter has value at low altitudes too.

After snowmobiling, gently rinse your face with warm water and apply a sheer coat of antiseptic first aid cream. Carry a tube of cream in your parka pocket, so it's handy wherever you happen to land.

What else? Hang on for dear life. Have fun!

Romulus firm has good year

Despite a decline in industrial activity, brought on by the General Motors strike and general economic conditions, Solventol Chemical Products Inc., of 13177 Huron River Dr., Romulus, reported a profitable fiscal year in 1970, with sales of almost $2 million.

The successful sales year was attributed to increased sales in Solventol's institutional products and private packaging lines, according to the company's newly released annual report to its stockholders.

The report noted completion of the company's fourth expansion since 1963—an approximate 15,000 square foot addition, which is being used for manufacturing and warehousing space. It also reported the acquisition of additional acreage for further expansion.

Solventol Chemical Products manufactures a complete line of cleaning and surface finishing products for industrial, institutional and commercial use.

The company's distributors are located throughout the United States and Canada, plus the European market and Middle East.

Petpourri

Many breeds not registered by the American Kennel Club have gained increasing popularity in recent years, leading to a number of fun matches organized especially for these breeds.

One of the most successful of these matches was recently sponsored by the Associated Rare Breeds of California, drawing 272 entries from among such breeds as Bichon Frises, Akitas, Australian Shepherds, Australian Kelpies, Canaans, Tibetan Spaniels, and Miniature Bull Terriers.

Many of these breeds are recognized by the AKC, but are not eligible for registration. The recognized breeds are allowed to compete in AKC licensed shows only in a combined Miscellaneous Class, and are not allowed in competition beyond this class.

The Shih Tzu was one of the most popular breeds in this miscellaneous category until they were made eligible for AKC registration in 1969.

Breeds currently eligible for competition in the Miscellaneous Class at AKC licensed are Akitas, Australian Cattle Dogs, Australian Kelpies, Border Collies, Cavalier King Charles Spaniels, Ibizan Hounds, Miniature Bull Terriers, Soft-Coated Wheaten Terriers, Spinoni Italiani, and Tibetan Terriers. These breeds are also eligible to compete in all AKC licensed obedience trials.

Premium lists and entry forms are now available for the Macomb County Kennel Club's all-breed show to be held Sunday, Feb. 14, at the Warren Woods High School in Warren.

Entries for the show close Tuesday, Feb. 2, with the Superintendent, or when the limit of 700 entries has been reached, if before Feb. 2. Superintendent is Moss-Bow Dog Show Organization, 9999 Broadstreet, Detroit 48204.

Send all news of recent show wins, new arrivals, etc., to Mike Murray, c/o The Daily Eagle, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne.

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP RESOLUTION

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY TOWNSHIP BOARD, January 12, 1971

The Water and Sewer system shall be and remain under the supervisor and ultimate control of the Township Board, but shall be under the immediate management and control of the Water and Sewer commission of the Township of Sumpter, consisting of seven (7) members serving three year terms, which terms shall so be staggered that the terms of two members shall expire each year. Appointments to the water and sewer commission shall be made by the Township Board. No more than two (2) members of the township board shall simultaneously be members of said commission. Such commission may elect officers and adopt rules and regulations relating to the use of the water and sewer system and the making of connections thereto subject to the prior approval by resolution or ordinance of the township board. No employee of the water and sewer department shall be appointed to the water and sewer commission.
